

...to the death

15

THE QUEEN'S FIVE

*With the loss of Anthony,
our group hit back against Marcus' men. Now they await their response.*

If I was Marcus I would attack at night.
That is why I told the others to rest
and I would keep watch.

I would not be able to rest. My thoughts would just keep going. Going through fight plans. We were all trained young, our father made sure of that.

He taught us honor. He was tough but a loving man. Mother died when we were fairly young. I guess that is why we are so protective of Lily.

She gave us some hope.
Maybe there was still some good in life.

So, they want to do this during the day.

Here we go.

Nepo, wake up my brothers.

I spotted one man. No sign of how they will attack us.

Roland, what do you want to do.

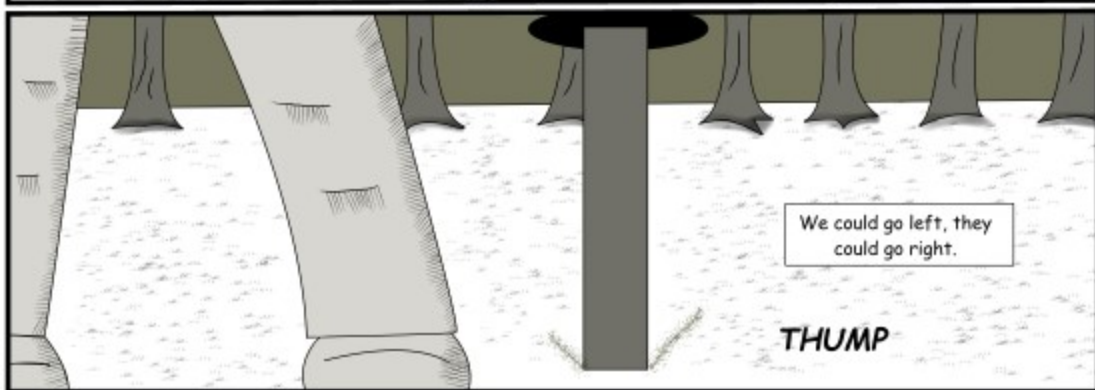

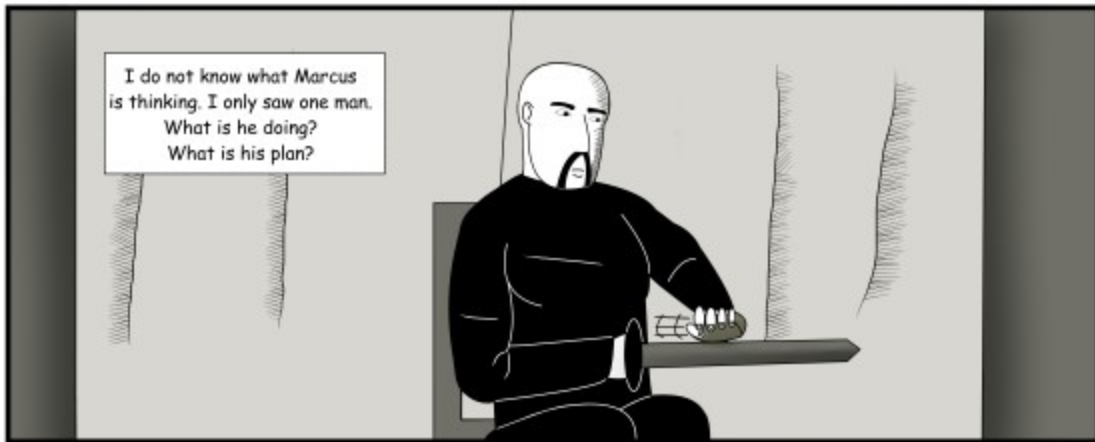

We are not sure if they have archers. Brayden can handle them.

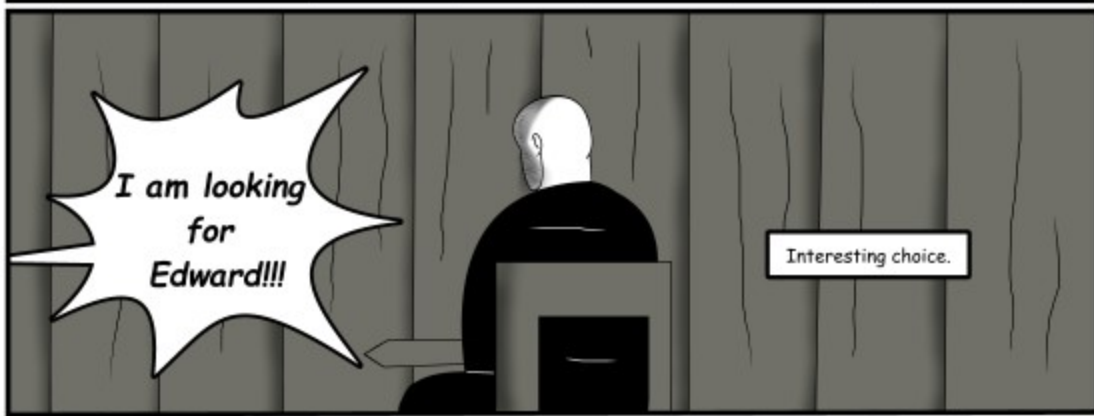

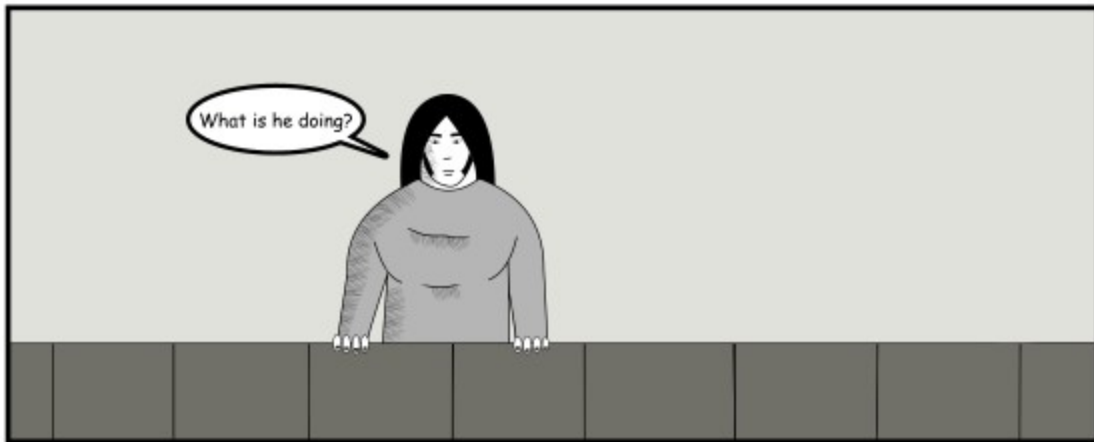

Are we using Devcon?

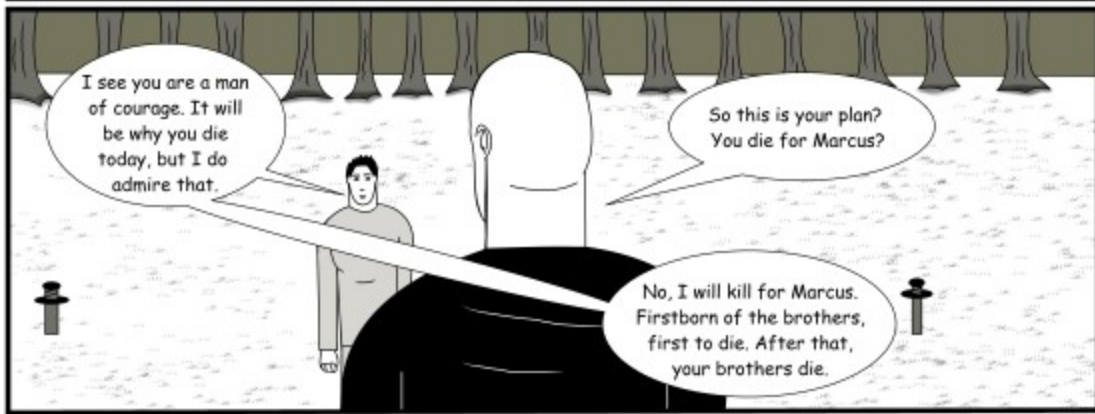

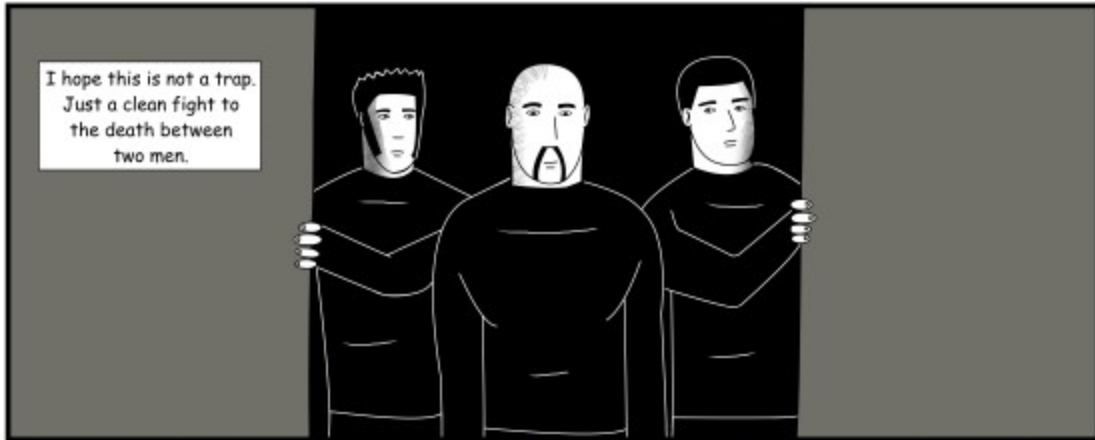

We do not want to use Devcon. He is a child.

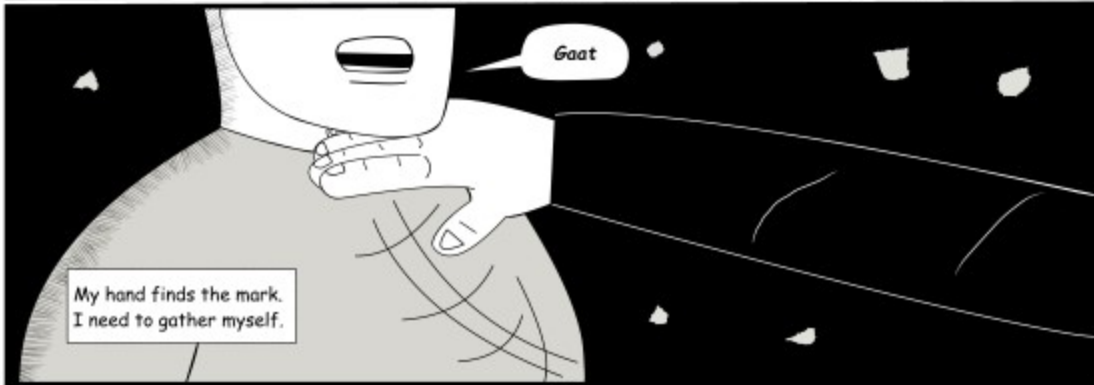

On the ground, he is not so big.

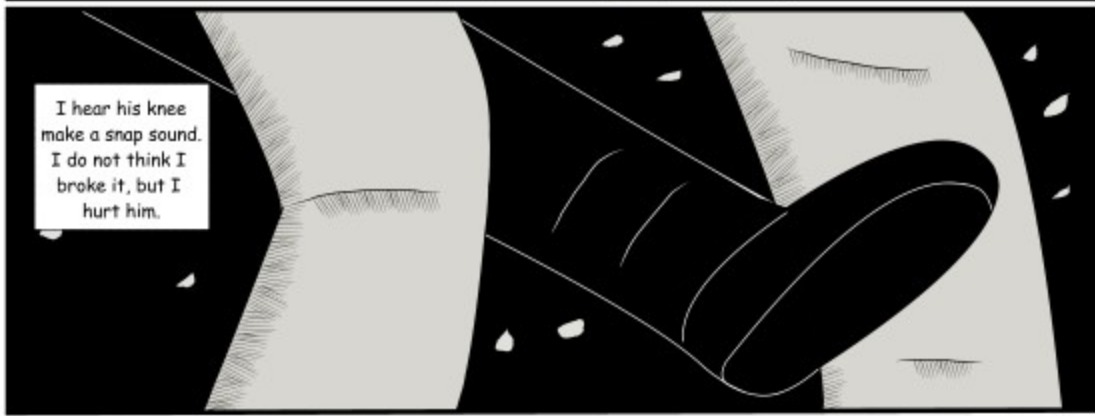

I hear Roland remind me of our father's fighting lessons. He would say if a man is bigger, make him smaller. Cut down that tree.

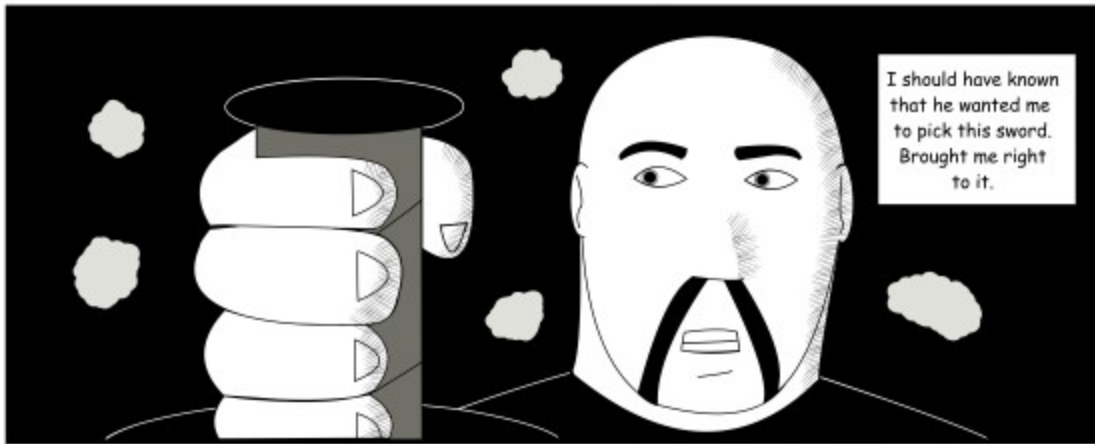

I hear his knee make a snap sound. I do not think I broke it, but I hurt him.

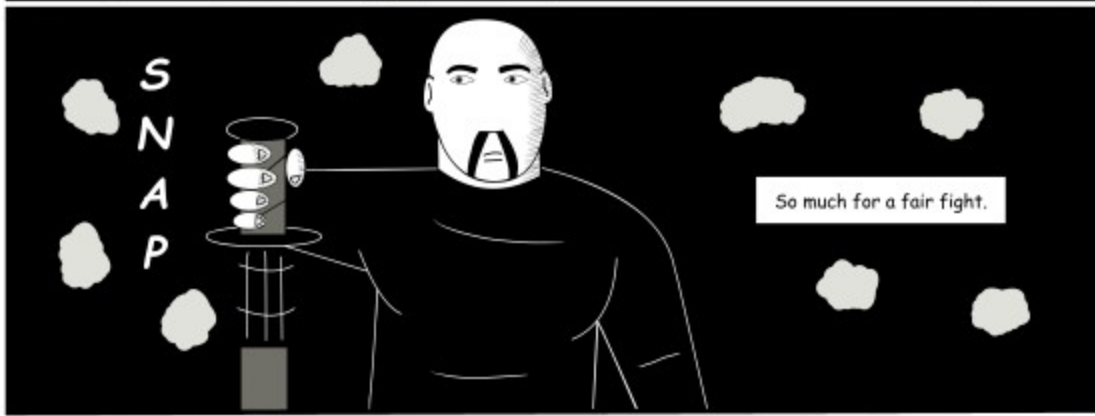

He has the grip of a bear... I feel him leaning into me so I know that the knee is hurt.

It might be time for a weapon.

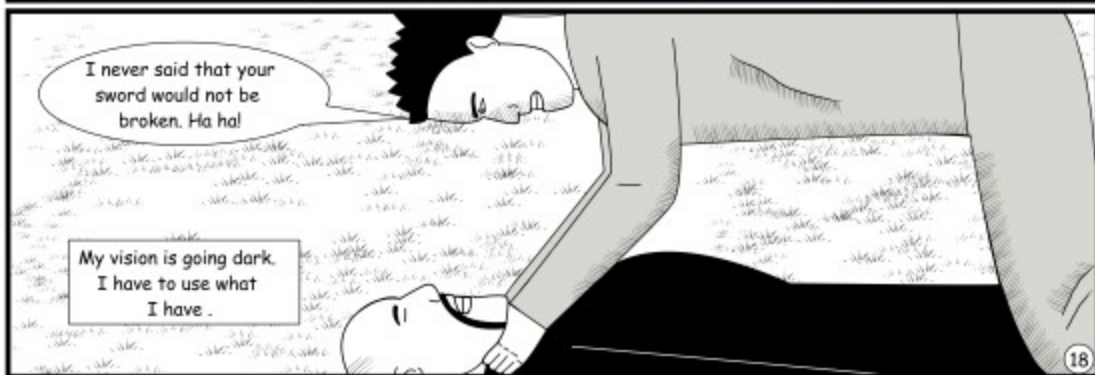

I should have known that he wanted me to pick this sword. Brought me right to it.

So much for a fair fight.

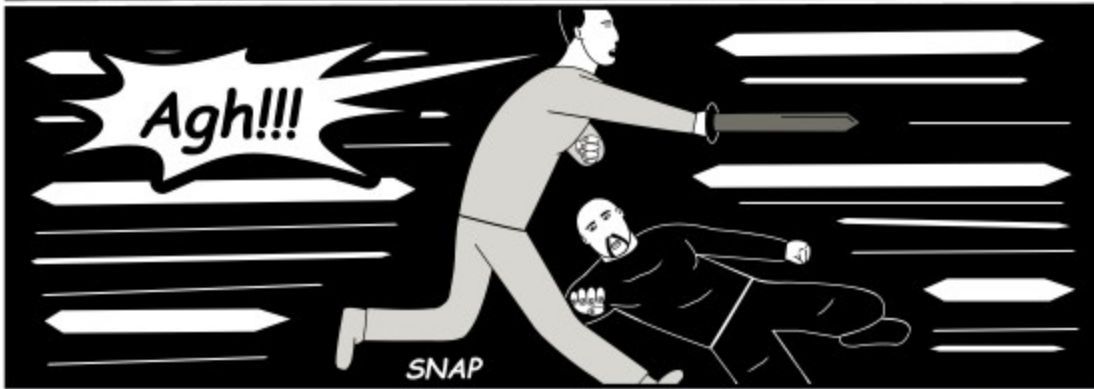

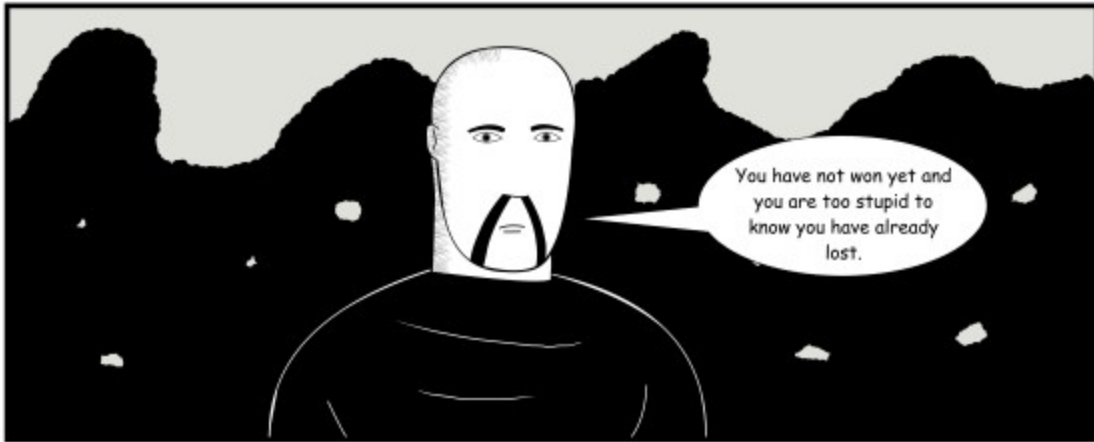

He is fast for a bigger man. Either that or I am moving slower.

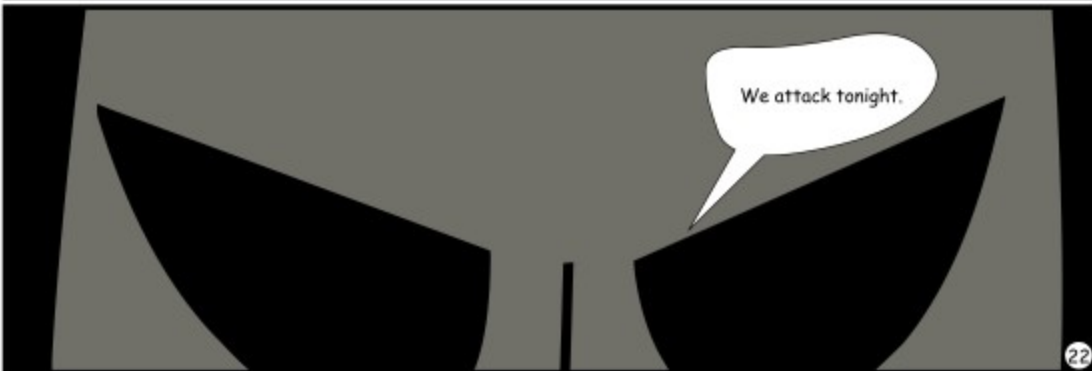

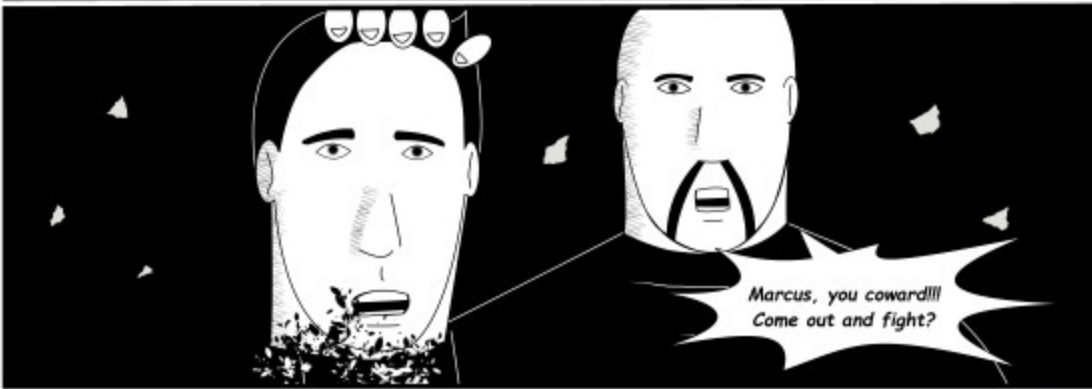

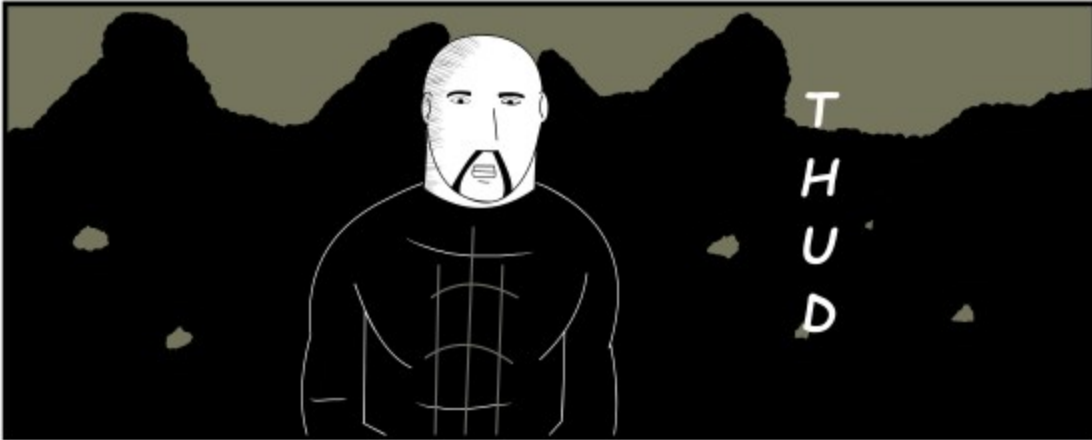

I never said that your sword would not be broken. Ha ha!

My vision is going dark. I have to use what I have.

<https://www.instagram.com/thequeensfive/>

<https://twitter.com/thequeensfive>

<http://thequeensfive.com/>

Q

J & H Comics ©